Corn, mixed, ear	.72
Corn, white, shelled	.76
Corn, mixed, shelled	.73
Oats	.35

Chicago Grain.
Chicago, Aug. 1.—Wheat prices ran up swiftly today influenced materially by more severe crop damage reports from the northwest. The market closed nervous, 2 1-8c to 3 1-2c and 3 5-8c net higher, with September at $1.24 1-8 to $1.24 1-4 and December at $1.28 3-8. Corn finished 1 1-8c to 1-8c and 1-4c off, and oats unchanged to 1-8c up. Provisions made gains of 2 1-2c to 7 1-2c and 10c.

New York Cotton.
New York, Aug. 1.—The government's crop report was followed by a sensational advance of about $1 a bale in the cotton market today. December contracts sold up from 13.38 to 13.65 within ten or fifteen minutes after the publication of the bullish crop figures, making a new high record for that delivery, an advance of 26 points from last night's closing figures. The market met a good deal of opposition at this level, however, the general list closing easy at a net advance of only 10 or 11 points.

Fort Worth Live Stock.
Fort Worth, Aug. 1.—Cattle—Receipts 3,500; steady no market. Hogs—Receipts 2,000; no market. Sheep—Receipts 150; no market.

WOMAN GIVEN TWO DAYS

To Make Up Her Mind for Surgical Operation. She Refused; Cured by Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"One year ago I was very sick and I suffered with pains in my side and back until I nearly went crazy. I went to different doctors and they all said I had female trouble; and would not get any relief until I was operated on. I had suffered for four years before this time, but I kept getting worse the more medicine I took. Every month since I was a young girl I had suffered with cramps in my sides at periods and was never regular. I saw your advertisement in the newspaper and the picture of a woman who had been saved from an operation and this picture was impressed on my mind. The doctor had given me only two more days to make up my mind so I sent my husband to the drug store at once for a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and believe me, I only took four doses before I felt a change and when I had finished the third bottle I was cured and never felt better. I grant you the privilege to publish my letter and am only too glad to let other women know of my cure."—Mrs. THOS. MCGONIGAL, 3432 Hartville Street, Phila., Pa.

FARM PRODUCTS 20 YEARS AGO.

In an issue of The Times last week under the head of Items of twenty years ago, reference was made to quotations of grain and livestock that prevailed on the local market. Compared to present prices the figures of two decades ago appear pitiful.

The Times quoted wheat in July, 1896, as being worth 45 cents a bushel. Today the same cereal is selling around 90 cents. Twenty years ago the farmer who brought a wagon load of corn to this city had to be satisfied with 21 cents a bushel, a price that today probably is viewed as being less than the cost of production. Twenty corn is selling at about 70 cents a bushel, or three times the price of those dark days of 1896.

When we look at the hog quotations of twenty years ago, we fancy ourselves partaking of prime breakfast bacon at values which now are asked for waste products of the hog, for porkers were selling on the local market at the depressing price of $2.50 per hundred. Today the farmer who brings a car of fine hogs to this market gets a price right close to 10 cents a pound on the hoof.

While Oklahoma was something of a cattle country twenty years ago, with cheap range of extensive area, the cattle industry had not reached a stage where fancy animals were produced, for heaves sold then as low as 2 cents a pound on the hoof. Today a raiser of high grade steers expects to get anywhere from 7 to 10 cents a pound on the hoof for the animals which he brings to the Oklahoma City stockyards, and he is not disappointed in his expectations.

If the present day farmer were forced to consider some of the prices of his products which prevailed in the creative stages of Oklahoma's development he would be immeasurably shocked.—Oklahoma City Times.
